UNCLE SAM TO PRESS FRANCE FOR PAYMENT

Considers It Duty to U. S. Taxpayers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The Coolidge administration is inclined to press France for payment of her share of the cost of the American war.

There is no disposition to drive a hard bargain in the refunding arrangement, but the American government is pressing on the assumption that the French people will not repudiate their obligations.

SENATOR W. C. BORAH (Ind., Rep.) said today in the senate that the administration is disposed to press France for payment of her share of the cost of the American war.

EXPERTS FIND $200,000,000 IN CAR LINES

Report About Ready for Council.

Mayor Dever's attempt to solve the local transportation problem developed along two lines yesterday.

A majority of the bankers representing surface lines securities owners conceded the city's right to control of the street car properties when 51 per cent of their $152,500,000 purchase price has been paid.

At the same time it was learned that the report of the trio of engineers named by the city and the bankers to appraise the properties will fix their present value at more than $200,000,000, or more than $40,000,000 above the capital account. But, under the agreement, the city will have to pay only the $152,500,000 for the property.

Lines in Good Shape.

The report is being whipped into shape for presentation to the council transportation committee early next week. The report will hold, it is said, that the Chicago Surface Lines are in excellent physical condition, with the most modern equipment and shops and the best laid trackage to be found in any American city.

The report fixing the value of the properties at above $200,000,000 will sustain the roads' contention that the purchase price is low. It is recalled that Mayor Dever insisted that the old agreed purchase price be lowered below the $152,500,000; that the bankers then proposed a board of three engineers to value the lines, stipulating that if the value arrived at should be higher they would still sell for $152,500,000; if lower, then they would accept that lower price. To this the mayor agreed. It now transpires that under this plan the price will be the original figure—$152,500,000.

Why Bankers Yield.

In the report, according to city hall observers, is the reason for the bankers' willingness to make many concessions on troublesome points—such as the control—that they refused to consider during long months of negotiation with Mayor Dever and more recently with the transportation committee.

The 1907 traction ordinances expire in 1907, 1917. If the city fails to exercise its option under those measures to purchase the street car lines in the meantime, the new appraisal, sanctioned by the city and the most recent valuation, will become the basis for future fare rate discussion, as well as for new negotiations for purchase of the lines.

Effect on Rate of Fare.

The new valuation, it is held, will effectively block any attempt by the city to secure a fare reduction or disallow the federal court injunction which ratified the present 7 cent fare. The bankers, it is said, are confident that the new valuation will justify the 7 cent fare under Supreme court decisions declaring an investor entitled to a fair return on his investment.

The bankers, however, did not concede to the city's demand for control of the lines without semblance of a struggle. Attorney Strawn came to the transportation committee with a counter-proposal and supposedly the last word of the bankers. They would insist, Mr. Strawn said, upon a new method of selecting the three neutral members of the nine member control board, which would include three city representatives and three selected by the security owners.

What Bankers Proposed.

If the city would agree to permit the judges of the Appellate court to select members of the neutral trio, as vacancies occurred, from a list of six nominees—three named by the mayor and three by the security holders—the bankers would agree to allow the city control of the lines when they had received 51 per cent of the certificates to be issued in lieu of cash for the properties, Mr. Strawn said.

Mr. Strawn's proposal excited as much surprise as did his earlier declaration that the city would not be given control of the lines until the last dollar of their purchase price had been paid. After a telephone conversation with Mayor Dever and much discussion between members of the committee, Ald. U. S. Schwartz (4th), the chairman, rejected the counter scheme.

"It is highly important that we have Mayor Dever's support in what we do," Chairman Schwartz told Mr. Strawn. "If we make this change we are certain to conflict with his ideas. Having in mind the mayor's veto power, we must assume that your

CABINETEERS WAIT AND GIVE HUGHES A NEW NICKNAME

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Secretary of State Hughes has become known among his associates in the cabinet as "Just One Word Hughes."

This was divulged today by cabinet officers, who had been forced to wait for an hour while the secretary had one of his famous "just one words" with President Coolidge.

It was explained that when the regular session has ended the President gives each of his advisers an individual session and listens to anything they may have to say regarding their respective departments. However, before this is started, as a rule Secretary Hughes arises and says, "Just one word, Mr. President. I would like to take up a matter with you in the next room."

In fact, the secretary of state rarely has to get as far in his remarks as "I would like to see" because the President has heard it so often he is generally out of his chair and making for the next room before Mr. Hughes concludes his little speech.

LOW WARTIME BIRTH RATE NOW FELT IN SCHOOL

Effects of the low birth rate of 1917 and 1918 are now being felt in the Chicago public schools, according to A. K. Wright, assistant superintendent.

A check of first grade pupils in October, 1924, showed that 200 less pupils were enrolled than during the same month of the previous year. In spite of the city's increased population, Mr. Wright said that following the war there was a sudden influx in the schools, owing to ex-service men's appreciation of education.

ANOTHER AUTO KILLER TO PRISON

Second Such Conviction Within a Week.

Another conviction for automobile manslaughter, carrying with it a penitentiary sentence, was obtained last night when a jury in Judge Emanuel Elser's court found John Glaesbrook, 2254 South Avers avenue, guilty of causing the death of John Brennan, 70-year-old, 1854 West Cullerton street.

The verdict is the second of the kind returned within a week against drivers of "death cars." Joseph F. Kyle, wealthy realty broker, was the first driver sentenced to prison.

The guilty verdict automatically carries a penitentiary sentence of from one year to life.

On Wrong Side of Street.

According to the evidence produced by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph Savage, Glaesbrook was driving on the wrong side of the street when he struck Brennan. He failed to stop, and was traced by the police through his license number and arrested. The accident occurred May 2, 1924, at Hoyne avenue and Cullerton street. A motion for a new trial will be heard Jan. 31.

Seek Victim's Kin.

Efforts of the police to find relatives of a dying automobile victim, an Italian about 70 years old, have proved fruitless for two days. Physicians at St. Anne's hospital, where he was taken, say he cannot recover. He was struck on Wednesday night, while crossing Chicago avenue at St. Louis avenue. The automobile was driven by Thomas Fowler, 654 North Lorain avenue, who was arrested.

ILLINOIS BREAKS
INJURY RECORD
IN DRY YEAR '23Industrial Accidents 61-
$10, 15,000 Increase.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Industrial accidents in Illinois in 1923 reached a total of 61,210, the worst record in the history of the state. This may give pause to Volstead doctrinaires. The accidents increased 15,000 over 1922, a growth of one-third in one year, while $11,000,000, the cost in compensation awards, was the largest since the workmen's compensation act was passed. The total wage loss is estimated at $50,000,000.

There were 675 fatalities in Illinois in 1923. Despite the millions of dollars spent on safety devices, 1923 saw that R. D. Cahn, chief statistician of the state labor department, describes as "a slaughter of unprecedented proportions."

Dry Predicted Decrease. This grim record brings disaffection among the prohibitionists. They are not sure that prohibition will bring about a decrease in the industrial accident and mortality rate. To many it doubtless will appear an astonishing revelation. The state labor department, however, was regarded as one of the strongest in the Volstead locker.

When the Anti-Saloon league a dozen or so years ago, at Columbus, O., decided to work for a national prohibition amendment and a "dry America by 1920," instead of keeping to its old movement of states, it switched its main argument from the moralistic to the economic appeal. The business workman would save money in the family sock, savings accounts would increase, blue Monday and its headache and lassitude would disappear, the worker would be able to go to his job with the employer would profit from increased labor turn-over, increased efficiency of the employee, and from augmented production.

Straw was thrown on the familiar argument that the deafooling of industry, to use the dry terminology, would mean safety to workers at their jobs and protection of life, limb, and health. It was set forth in the dry year-books and in the economic argument as a basic theorem.

Statistics Contradict Dry. Strange to say, the statistics now appear to check this economic theory of prohibition. One of the arguments of the dry cause is that prohibition has increased accidents, but the figures indicate that in Illinois prohibition has not been followed by an increase of accidents, but quite the reverse.

In the fourth year of prohibition, 1923, Illinois, a typical industrial state, saw its accidents in industry grow 21 per cent in one year. It hardly can be explained by industrial expansion, for 1923 was not a capacity plus year, nor by increased labor turn-over, for the workers were hanging on to their jobs. Nor is it to be ascribed to the use of the Negro migration from the south and the industrialization of colored workers from the cotton fields.

The rates are not kept separate in the statistics of the state industrial commission, but William M. Scanlan, chairman, says there has been little change in the proportion of Negro claimants for awards.

1923 Not Peak Year. Nor can it hardly be explained by a slump in factory operations, for in fact 1923 chalked up 20 per cent more accidents in Illinois than did the peak year of 1920, when it was "deuces wild" in industry. The causes are extremely hard to discover, "Chairman Scanlan says, "but the records reveal an astonishing increase in the accident rate."

Authoritative figures for other states are somewhat fragmentary. In Massachusetts there has been a drop in the number of accidents, but in 1922 they still averaged 51,000, as against 47,000 in 1921.

In Pennsylvania accidents reported for the first ten months of 1924 were 141,000, as against 147,000 for the first ten months of 1923 and 117,000 for 1922. In coal mining in the United States there were 2,452 men killed in 1923, as against 1,797 in 1922 and 2,317 in 1921.

Change Unit of Measure. The statisticians have changed their measuring stick from rate per 1,000 workers on a 240 day a year basis to a rate per 1,000,000 tons mined. The rate for 1923 is 8 per cent better than for 1922, but 1922 was about 15 per cent worse than 1921.

In the coal mining, the advent of prohibition does not seem to have been followed by the theoretical drop in fatalities that was heralded in dry doctrine.

The present rate keeps up. Statistician Cahn points out, it will not be long before 100,000 persons are killed each year in Illinois industry, despite the great strides which have been made in plant equipment.

ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING SON FROM MOTHER

John R. Gabriel, 3208 Park avenue, general sales manager for the United States Sanitary corporation, was arrested last night by city detectives and charged with kidnaping his son, John R. Jr., from the mother's custody.

Gabriel and his wife, Mrs. Mary Gabriel, wife of Mrs. Dorothy Barry, who is manager of the Evanston hospital, have been estranged. He went to his brother, Oliver, to Mrs. Barry's home at 1022 Monroe street, late last night to effect a reconciliation. Sunday, his wife charged, he grabbed his baby boy and fled.

Gabriel followed her husband through streets and fought for her child, but he drove away after she had seen the windshield of his car.

Y. M. C. A. TO PAY
MILLIONS FOR
NEW BUILDINGSPlans Hotel Addition;
Branches, Too.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Officials of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. talked in big figures last evening at the annual meeting and dinner at the Hotel La Salle.

The items included the following: The announcement of the building of a $1,000,000 nineteen-story annex to the Y. M. C. A. hotel at 322 South Wabash avenue, to contain 1,400 rooms, making a total to annex and hotel of 2,650 rooms.

The erection of new Y. M. C. A. branches now being built or to be built within a year totaling over $5,000,000. One of the branches, that in Austin, costing $750,000, will have its corner stone laid tomorrow afternoon.

Provide Fund for Buildings. The establishment of a central fund of $7,500,000 for assisting in the erection of buildings and carrying on work in sections, such as at Halsted street and Roosevelt road, where funds are being raised, but it constitutes a vital part of the Y. M. C. A. expansion plans.

An anonymous gift of $50,000 for the camp fund was announced and the statement made that the Y. M. C. A. has now 1,000 acres of land with frontage of nine miles on small lakes for the sake of both summer and winter outings.

The total cost of operating the departments for 1924 was $3,124,533, an increase over 1923 of $11,193. For 1923, $296,000 was sought in popular subscription. The canvassers reported having come within $27,000 of the amount and it was voted to continue the canvass another week.

An average of 20,000 men daily have used the various Y. M. C. A. buildings. There are 166 paid secretaries, 838 other employees and 5,056 serving on volunteer committees.

Hypes Again Elected. W. H. Hypes, now touring India, was re-elected president. William Francis, first vice president, presided. The report of the expansion committee was prepared by its chairman, J. V. Farwell, and read by George Martin. The general secretary, W. J. Parker, reported the work of the year and made the special announcements of the big funds. A. E. Cross announced the summer camp plans and accomplishments.

REALTY TAXES $100,000 HIGHER ON STOCKYARDS

Real estate taxes levied against the Union Stockyards and Transit company were boosted nearly 200 per cent yesterday by order of the board of review. The valuation of the 134 acres of stockyards land was raised $2,500,000, from $1,357,500 to $3,857,500.

As a result, the county will receive additional taxes of about $100,000. The share to be received by the board of education, which petitioned an increase of 500 per cent, is $40,000.

Miss Margaret Haley, head of the Chicago Teachers' Federation, long has complained for an increase.

Every Violator a Jail Bird. Every person convicted under this act would be stamped as a jail bird, and even farmers who allowed their cider to ferment to an intoxicating content, or the man who made synthetic gin at home, would be guilty as a "manufacturer," the minority report declared.

The minority report in part follows: "The present measure appears to violate two principles. One is the constitutional provision against 'unusual punishments' and it also violates the well established and human element in the administration of justice which leaves to the courts the adjustment of punishment to fit the facts of each particular case."

Vindictiveness Charged. "It is idle to suppose that increasing penalties in ordinary criminal cases will secure obedience to the law. The bill seems to proceed in the spirit of vindictiveness towards offenders and enlarges the penalties to an unusual and uncalled for degree."

The imposition of severe penalties and making them obligatory upon the court will not conduce to the greater success in prosecution of liquor cases. It will inevitably cause juries to balk at the conviction of a person charged with a violation of the Volstead act.

COFFLAW JAIL BILL DENOUNCED BY REP. GRAHAM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The widely advertised Stalker bill, increasing the penalties for violation of the Volstead act and recently favorably reported to the house by the judiciary committee, was the subject of a scathing denunciation this afternoon by Congressman Graham (Rep., Pa.), the chairman of the committee, in a minority report which he signed, together with Representative Dominick (Dem., S. C.).

Contradicting denials of prohibition leaders, Mr. Graham said the bill made jail sentences, in addition to fines, mandatory in every instance, even in those of first offenders.

Every person convicted under this act would be stamped as a jail bird, and even farmers who allowed their cider to ferment to an intoxicating content, or the man who made synthetic gin at home, would be guilty as a "manufacturer," the minority report declared.

The present measure appears to violate two principles. One is the constitutional provision against 'unusual punishments' and it also violates the well established and human element in the administration of justice which leaves to the courts the adjustment of punishment to fit the facts of each particular case."

Last Large Ball

The Actors' Equity ball at the First regiment armory this evening will be the last large ball to be attended by society folk this season. The armory is to be decorated in crystal and silver and in a reproduction of a village square all of the prominent actors and actresses in town will appear in a series of acts. Joseph Santley has arranged the entertainment. The program, "The Midnight Jollies," will take place at 10:30 o'clock, and at 11 o'clock a series of impromptu acts will compose the "Milkman's Follies," when breakfast will be served. Mrs. John Elliott Jenkins and Evan Evans are general chairmen and have been assisted by a large number of committees, including those headed by Fletcher Durbin, Stephen T. Hard, Miss Jane Scriven, Mrs. John Alder, Carpenter, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. Jacques Potts, and Mrs. Charles King Corsant. All of the boxes and tables have been sold, but tickets may be obtained at the door for the affair.

Sexet Banished and Heavily Fined. A year of trial marriage to test their love ended abruptly in an Oak Park court yesterday morning for Gretchen Spragenhoff, 23, and Harry Moonshower, 33 years old.

Arrest of the couple came when Oak Park police raided a love nest at 711 South boulevard. Three men and three women were jailed for the night.

The Attorney's Defense. Attorney Thomas Mercer offered a modern defense in Magistrate Frank A. McKee's court yesterday for Moonshower and Miss Spragenhoff.

"These two young people love each other dearly," said Mercer. "They have been living together without the formality of a civil ceremony merely probation. They will be married soon, I am sure."

But Judge McKee proved old-fashioned and fined the pair $75 each, as well as Mrs. Esther Peters, 22, Mrs. Ethel Brown, 23, said to be a runaway Maywood wife; Leander Weissman, 26, and Samuel Spooner, 30 years old.

Banished from Oak Park. In addition, on pain of having their fines increased to $200 each, they were banished from the confines of Oak Park forever.

As Mrs. Peters left court she was arrested again on complaint of a real estate agent, who said she had given a bogus check for last month's rent of the love nest.

The arrests came after Lieut. Benjamin Baransa had investigated complaints of neighbors, shocked by the lack of legal license for the going-on in the South boulevard home. He testified that he found the three couples asleep when he called.

COFFLAW JAIL BILL DENOUNCED BY REP. GRAHAM

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—The widely advertised Stalker bill, increasing the penalties for violation of the Volstead act and recently favorably reported to the house by the judiciary committee, was the subject of a scathing denunciation this afternoon by Congressman Graham (Rep., Pa.), the chairman of the committee, in a minority report which he signed, together with Representative Dominick (Dem., S. C.).

Contradicting denials of prohibition leaders, Mr. Graham said the bill made jail sentences, in addition to fines, mandatory in every instance, even in those of first offenders.

Every person convicted under this act would be stamped as a jail bird, and even farmers who allowed their cider to ferment to an intoxicating content, or the man who made synthetic gin at home, would be guilty as a "manufacturer," the minority report declared.

The present measure appears to violate two principles. One is the constitutional provision against 'unusual punishments' and it also violates the well established and human element in the administration of justice which leaves to the courts the adjustment of punishment to fit the facts of each particular case."

Vindictiveness Charged. "It is idle to suppose that increasing penalties in ordinary criminal cases will secure obedience to the law. The bill seems to proceed in the spirit of vindictiveness towards offenders and enlarges the penalties to an unusual and uncalled for degree."

The imposition of severe penalties and making them obligatory upon the court will not conduce to the greater success in prosecution of liquor cases. It will inevitably cause juries to balk at the conviction of a person charged with a violation of the Volstead act.

COOLIDGE CONSIDERS MAKING SPEAKING
TRIPS AFTER MAR. 4

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—A White House spokesman indicated today that President Coolidge may take some short trips throughout the country following the adjournment of congress March 4, although a final decision has not been reached.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear on the President to make speeches, particularly in the west. He also has been asked to visit some points in the south. The President would go on his speaking tour as little as possible. It was said, but he might find it desirable to take some short journeys.

Crime smashers were at work yesterday on orders of Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden and Edgar A. Jones. They were the judges' personal henchmen, and their implements were hammer, saw, and a few lusty wallops each destroyed his revolver a day.

Judge Padden said he had learned that all revolvers confiscated by the courts were not turned over to the city custodian, therefore he acted.

Judge Jones, who before becoming a judge was first assistant state's attorney, said he had been told that all weapons brought before the courts were not turned over to the city custodian, therefore he acted.

Judge Jones presides over the Boys' court, and he said he has averaged the destruction of one revolver a day. Judge Padden now is conducting the Morals court.

Charles H. Krimbel of the criminal branch of the Municipal court said only 174 revolvers had been turned over to the city custodian in the last year although there were 3,712 cases of assault with a deadly weapon or carrying concealed weapons heard in the same year.

In about 75 per cent of those cases, he declared, revolvers were introduced as evidence. These should have been confiscated and ultimately passed to the city custodian, Krimbel explained.

POLICE SHOOT
TWO WATCHMEN,
ONE FATALLYMistake Then for Thieves
in Alley.

Two colored men, thought by policemen to be bandits, were shot and one fatally wounded late last night when they were found lurking in an alley near Randolph and Green streets.

The wounded men, Joseph Murphy, 44, and James Bell, 1444 West Lake street, as they submitted to operations in the Bridewell hospital in an attempt to save their lives, declared they were not bandits, but were watchmen for a hotel.

Following the operation Bell died. Backs Up Their Story. Jacob Zuker, proprietor of a small hotel at 112 North Halsted street, early today told police he had hired Bell several days ago to stay in the hotel and keep lights on after murderers had smashed expensive mirrors. Bell asked permission to have Murphy with him.

The policemen, John Kuciver and William McGlynn, had been called from the Des Plaines street station after John Capodotti, 1375 Washington street, had phoned that he had been held up by two colored men.

Kuciver and McGlynn, in a sliver, raced to the corner of Randolph and Green. They turned the headlights of the car into an alley and saw the two colored men crouched against the wall.

Others Fired First, Police Say. In uniform, the policemen said, they walked into the alley in the light of the automobile, and Kuciver asserted that Bell opened fire on him and that Murphy followed suit.

The policeman returned the fire and the colored men fell, each with two wounds. Thousands yesterday watched policemen chase an alleged splittler through loop streets after he stole several silk shirts from a Randolph street haberdasher. At central station he gave his name as Robert L. Patrick, 5120 Indiana avenue.

TRAWLER SAVES FLYERS FROM ATLANTIC DEATH

Plane Goes Down a Mile from Shore.

SECTION LXIII.

"Although the rain and wind was coming from the north and west, very much it might shift any moment. So of course it was impossible to tell where we might drift. It had been our custom to cut our maps into strips and roll them so they would be easy to handle in the cockpit as we flew. They were large scale, and whenever flying over thoroughly explored regions our maps showed every village, mountain, stream, or other landmark."

"The strip we had along this hop to Iceland included nothing but the Orkneys, the Faroes, and the eastern end of Iceland. So we could only make a rough guess as to how far we were from the nearest mainland," added Wade.

"Here was where we did a thing that caused Smith and Nelson to afterwards dub us the world's greatest optimists. 'Hank' climbed out of his cockpit, hung on to the edge of it with one hand, opened the tool compartment, and then ferreted out a very small scale National Geographic society map of the world, which we had carried all the way around."

"On this map we measured off the distance we were from the coast of Norway and figured out that with favorable winds we might possibly exist until we drifted to those shores, providing, of course, that we could keep the plane intact that long."

Sea Becomes Rougher.

"But within a very few minutes after we had come to that conclusion the weather changed for the worse. The sea became increasingly choppy, and it looked as though the wings would dip under the waves and buckle up almost any moment. Just imagine the sensation of being wrecked at sea in a plane, and being obliged to sit hour after hour watching the waves rolling toward you and expecting every second to see the wings crumpled up by the weight of the water."

"We got enough kick out of this to last us for the rest of our lives. It was something like the suspense endured by the victim in Poe's blood curdling tale of the Pit and Pendulum when he saw the massed edged pendulum swinging nearer and nearer to the brink of that where he lay bound and helpless."

"Hour after hour went by and the only scenery we had to look at was our own plane in which we had journeyed two-thirds of the way around the world, a seemingly endless expanse of water all round us, and the gray bowl of an arctic sky. We said very little to each other, but we did a lot of thinking. One by one all the deeds of our lives seemed to pass before us, and one by one we saw the faces of our relatives and intimate friends."

Rescue in Sight.

"But finally I saw a second wisp of smoke off on the horizon. This time we were determined that it should not get away from us. Tinkling one of the wooden supports from the back end of the fuselage, we attached a strip of fabric to it that we always carried along for wing patches. With a few tacks we improvised a flag that was lighter and easier to wave than the heavy canvas we had used in vain earlier in the afternoon."

"Hank climbed out on the upper wing with it and started wig-wagging furiously. We wondered whether the ship would turn out to be the cruiser Richmond or merely a passing fishing boat. Fortunately it was headed in our direction and as it drew nearer and nearer we saw that it was a fishing trawler."

"But in order to make quite sure that it saw us I got out the flare and also fired a few shots with my rifle, while Hank kept on wig-wagging. You can't imagine the feeling of relief it gave us when we saw that they had noticed our signals and were coming toward us."

"Do You Want Help?"

"The trawler proved to be the Rugby-Ramsey, and she came alongside at 3:30. Somewhat to our amusement her skipper shouted out: 'Do you want any help?'"

"Well, I should hope we do!" I replied.

"What kind of help can we give you?" asked the old fisherman.

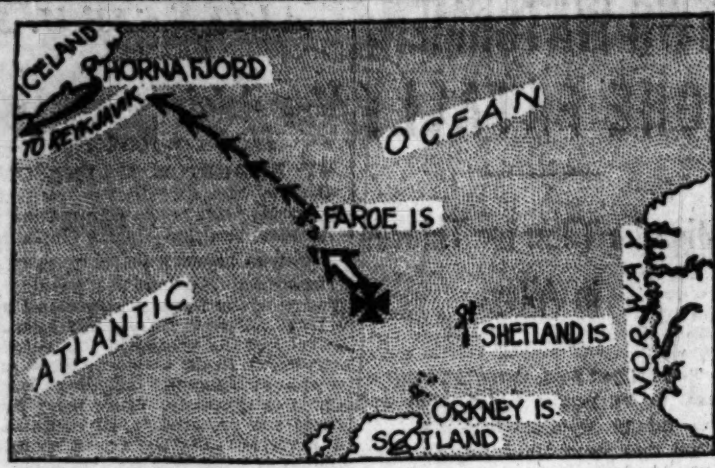

"Throw us a tow line," said I. "By good luck we had come down near the course that is taken by fishing boats plying between the Orkneys and Faroes. The latter islands were the nearest so the trawler attempted to tow us toward them. Now came still more thrills. The trawler was awfully slow and as a result of the cross wind blowing she would rise and fall with

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, external bronchitis and other forms of throat diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

THE LOSS OF THE BOSTON

As soon as the rescue ships came to the helpless Boston they attempted to save it. But the crane broke just as the plane was lifted out of the water, and as it fell back its pontoons were wrecked. The rescuers then attempted to tow the Boston to the Faroe Islands, but it sank when within a mile of land.

The two flyers were taken to Iceland by ship. The New Orleans and Chicago set out for Reykjavik as soon as they learned that the Boston would never come.

the swell. But each time she went up on a wave she seemed to stand still.

"At each of these moments the plane would swing round and head into the wind according to the natural instincts of a plane. Then when the trawler would shoot off from the crest of the swell the poor old Boston would get a jerk that would make her shiver from nose to tail. Frequently the pontoons would be yanked right under the water."

"After a half hour of this the trawler found that she wasn't making any headway, so stopped towing and simply stood by awaiting the arrival of one of our destroyers. In a little while the Billingsby arrived, and we cast adrift from the Rugby-Ramsey in order to pick up the destroyer's line. A few minutes later the Richmond raced up. Again we switched over, and in transferring to the admiral's cruiser one of our wings dipped under a wave and the ribs of the trailing edge popped like the crackle of a machine gun."

"Pulling alongside the Richmond, we drained off all the gas and oil, to lighten her before attempting to hoist her up on the deck. The sling was dropped down from the crane, and after attaching it, we went aboard the cruiser in order to still further lighten our plane. Our spirits were high again. We foresaw no difficulty in the way of hoisting the Boston on board, and of then returning to Kirkwall for repairs."

Fight to Keep Afloat.

"The signal was given and I can recall the wonderful feeling of joy that swept over me as I saw our beloved plane raised off the water for three feet. But then the crash came. The tackle was wrenched loose from the main mast, and the plane fell. Fortunately all of the sailors had cleared away from underneath and no one was injured. Our task now was to keep her afloat, because the fall had broken the pontoons. Men went aboard at once with veneer, fabric, and 'dope' to make emergency patches, while others operated the bilge pump."

"We also decided to take everything loose off the plane, such as baggage, tools, and spare parts, and then disassemble her by sawing off the wings and pontoons before attempting to hoist the fuselage on to the deck. But fate was against us. The wind had been increasing in violence and it soon became impossible to work on the plane. She tossed so violently that it looked for a bit as though the men on her were going to lose their lives. One of them did get carried overboard, but two of his companions seized him before he had been carried away. Then they all returned to the cruiser, and we saw that our only chance was to attempt to tow her to a lee shore in the Faroe Islands and disassemble her there."

End Comes Near Shore.

"Shortly after 5 o'clock I was aroused and told that the plane had capsized. This had occurred after the front spreader bar had broken loose and allowed the pontoons to come together. All of the tanks had been left open in the event of just this sort of thing happening, so they would fill with water and cause the plane to sink instead of drifting about as a menace to shipping."

"When this occurred we were within a mile of land. But we were forced to abandon her, and at 5:30 we cut the tow lines, bade farewell to our friend who had carried us so far round the globe, and headed straight for Iceland."

"We wirelessed Smith that every possible effort had been made to save her, but that this had proved futile. 'I have never seen four such worried and gloomy men,' said Erik Nelson, 'as we were when that wireless reached us at Hornaford, telling us that Wade and Ogden had lost their plane. At that moment it seemed as though it was just as great a tragedy for us as it was for them."

Close Their Engines.

"It was mighty tough luck and we all knew that it was only chance that had prevented this occurring to some of the rest of us. We had changed motors at Brough, England, and Wade and Ogden were the first to get their plane ready to install the new engine. The three new motors lay there on the floor of the Blackburn aircraft factory, still in their crates. Ogden hesitated for a moment before picking the one of the three that he would open."

"But one crate happened to be a bit easier to open than the others, so he took it, just as any of the rest of us would have done. In doing so he got the one dud of the lot. Just where the weakness developed we do not know, but the probability is that the oil pump shaft broke, thus preventing the oil from circulating."

"We had spent nearly all of Wednesday, the 4th of August, waiting for more news from Wade and hoping there still might be some chance of salvaging the plane. We were stunned by what had happened. Of course, we were relieved to know that they were both safe, but it simply made us sick at heart to think that they had come 20,000 miles around the world and then lost their plane through absolutely no fault of their own."

Flew Through Dust Storm.

"That night we spent a few hours at the home of one of the leading men of this town of eighty people, listening to Mr. Danielson's six fatten-haired daughters sing old Icelandic songs. Next morning we got away at 9 o'clock for Reykjavik, the capital of this famous island of the arctic."

TRAIN HELD AS DOCTORS TREAT CHICAGO WOMAN

Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 23.—Illness of Mrs. J. McGregor Adams of Highland Park, Chicago, widow of the former head of Adams & Westlake, railroad appliance manufacturers, caused a delay of about twenty minutes to a Louisville and Nashville train here this afternoon while physicians were summoned to attend her. The nature of her illness was not revealed.

Mrs. Adams was traveling in her private car attached to the train, which also was to have taken on here the private car of President W. L. Mapother of the Louisville and Nashville. Learning of Mrs. Adams' illness, Mr. Mapother ordered that her car be not disturbed and that his car, usually entitled to rear end position, be placed in the middle of the train.

After Mrs. Adams' treatment, the train proceeded to Montgomery and New Orleans.

Yellow Cab

Wins Public Good-Will

Public good-will is the most exacting thing in the world. It is hard to get and nothing short of constant adherence to standard will hold it. It demands 100 per cent and won't remain true for a fraction less.

We have wooed this coy maiden for 10 years, and the reason she is friendly now is because during all that time we have not relaxed our efforts to please her in the slightest detail.

So that today this is the biggest and best taxicab service in existence—operating 2790 cabs daily—employing 5704 trained drivers and doing 85 per cent of the taxicab business in this great city of 3,000,000 people.

The friendship between Good-Will and Yellow Cab is further revealed in these figures: During 1924 we carried 26,136,890 passengers, or eight times the total population of Chicago, or a standing daily average of 71,600 passengers.

The figures show a steady, healthy increase every year of the 10 years of Yellow Cab's history. It proves beyond question that we have won your good-will, and for this we are profoundly grateful.

Let Us Help You Along the Broad Highway to Success?

A Car of Your Own By July 1st —Here Is a Plan That Will Help You Get It!

Approximately fifteen million cars will be in use this summer. Many will be brand new ones. Some will be purchased at the Automobile Show next week. Others will be purchased a little later on. And the largest percentage of these fifteen million cars will be, or have been, paid for from the results of saving—so much put away regularly each week or month. Of course many good cars are now sold on the partial payment plan, but even then it is necessary to make a reasonable initial payment. This "down payment" ranges from $100.00 up, depending on the price of the car. This initial payment is the first consideration and this bank has arranged several plans which will provide the "down payment" on the car you want by July 1st. For instance—

Save $ 5.00 a week (for 22 weeks) and on July 1st you will have $110.00 plus interest
Save 10.00 a week (for 22 weeks) and on July 1st you will have 220.00 plus interest
Save 15.00 a week (for 22 weeks) and on July 1st you will have 330.00 plus interest
Save 20.00 a week (for 22 weeks) and on July 1st you will have 440.00 plus interest
Save 25.00 a week (for 22 weeks) and on July 1st you will have 550.00 plus interest

FELDER SAYS HE TOOK CASKET MONEY AS FEE

Testifies in Own Behalf in Means Trial.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Col. Thomas E. Felder, noted criminal attorney of Atlanta, New York, was on the witness stand this afternoon in his own defense. He and Gaston B. Means are charged with having conspired to bribe Felder's friend and associate in the Moore pardon case, former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, in the Glass Casket case of Chicago.

Mr. Daugherty arrived in New York during the day and was expected to take the stand for Felder, but when his name was called he could not be found. W. J. Burns, former chief of the department of justice bureau of investigation, also was absent at the psychological moment.

Klan Persecution, He Says.

Col. Felder, silver haired and with a Georgia accent, has had difficulty in restraining himself during the unfolding of the government case. He maintains that this is a Ku Klux Klan persecution, begun in the days when he fought the late Tom Watson, and that the only reason he was indicted was because he had defended Gaston B. Means, his co-defendant in this case, in a liquor conspiracy charge last summer.

He began a detailed account of his relations with the Glass Casket crowd. This began, he said, on Oct. 13, 1922, when Elmer W. Jarnecke, who had pleaded guilty to a conspiracy to bribe charge, brought "Doc" Getzler of Chicago to his office.

Getzler, one of the Glass Casket company defendants, retained him at that time, the colonel said, and paid him $1,000. The record books of the Felder firm show that $1,000 was turned in by Felder at this time. It is the government's contention that Felder and Getzler did not meet until later and that this $1,000 was part of the $25,000 which was paid to Felder by Jarnecke.

Met Ald. Kostner.

"Getzler wanted me to go to the prosecuting officers and prevent indictment," he said. "I told him this was improper and agreed to take up his case if an indictment was returned. I never saw any of the other defendants until Nov. 2, 1922. He met Attorney Joseph O. Kostner on Oct. 29 or 30 of that year. He was introduced to me by Harold Spillberg of my office, who said: 'This is Alderman Kostner of Chicago.'"

"He wanted to discuss with me the matter of my representing all the defendants. We talked of terms and I thought that as there were about sixty defendants that $1,000 each was a fair price. We discussed the division of the fee. I said at first that our firm should have two-thirds, but he said there were four members in his firm also and that he wanted one-half."

Thought Money Was Fee.

"He said that he and his partner, Mr. William Haywood, former United States attorney for New York, named in the indictment, was placed on the stand. He testified that neither Felder, Means, nor Jarnecke had ever spoken to him about the Glass Casket case.

"I wish to state that there is no charge or suspicion that there was any attempt to bribe this witness," said the special prosecutor, Hiram C. Todd.

WHO OWNS IT?

Washington, D. C., Jan. 23.—The United States and the Netherlands governments agreed today to submit to arbitration the question of sovereignty over the island of Palmas (Mindanao) of the Philippine archipelago. Special efforts have been made by the United States to secure control of the island because of the belief that it is being used as a rendezvous by opium smugglers. It is forty miles within the boundary of the Philippines group as defined by the treaty of Paris in 1898, but the Netherlands flag has continued to fly over the island, preventing the United States from preventing the smuggling of opium by Philippine customs officials.

HERTZ FORMS NATION-WIDE RENT-A-CAR CO.

To Be Subsidiary of Yellow Cab Interests.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Another American institution is doomed. The country livery stable is to be supplanted by the "drive-it-yourself" automobile agency.

A nation-wide system, designed eventually to serve towns and cities of more than 2,500 population was announced yesterday by John Hertz, head of the Yellow taxi and bus services of Chicago, New York and St. Louis.

A new $1,000,000 corporation has been formed as a subsidiary of the Yellow Cab Manufacturing company to launch the new business. It will be known as the "Hertz Drive-Yourself System." It will license agencies in towns and cities, will sell new closed type automobiles to operators on easy payments, and will aid agencies in conducting their businesses.

Purpose of Plan.

"The system is designed to make it possible for any one who can drive a car to rent one in any town of any size," Mr. Hertz explained. "We plan to establish as many agencies as the communities can support profitably. Agents will have the advantage of our system of insurance and identification that will remove the risk from renting cars to unknown persons and which also will cover any damages."

"Any one who rents a car will pay only for actual use. The agent will get his return from the car's actual service. That is fair to both. Furthermore, we will take back cars at the end of every year on a fixed basis of depreciation according to mileage."

Cars Unusually Sturdy.

"We believe this new idea will be welcomed everywhere. Statistics show that one woman in every three, and two men in every three, in this country, know how to drive a car. It will be convenient, because there will be an agency in every neighborhood. And it will be amazingly cheap, because patrons will do their own driving and will pay only for actual use of a car. Our cars will have the appearance of fine, private automobiles."

The agencies will use a trademark insignia by which travelers can identify local stations with the national system. A nation-wide credit and rental system will be operated. Both the patron and the agent will have the benefit of insurance protection."

WEEKS DIRECTS NEW SURVEY OF SANITARY CANAL

Hires Local Firm; Asks Report in 90 Days.

First steps to aid congress in reaching a decision on deep waterway project and diversion of lake water at Chicago for sanitary purposes were taken here yesterday by the federal government.

A announcement made by Maj. Rufus W. Putnam, United States district engineer, that the local firm of Alvord, Burdick & Howson, hydraulic and sanitary engineers, has been engaged by the war department to make a comprehensive study of the proposed waterway and sewage disposal and report within three months.

Maj. Putnam said that survey will not be made to guide the war department in granting the drainage board permission to withdraw 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from Lake Michigan, but will consider the policy of meters for water users.

Question of Navigation.

"The survey of the Chicago engineering firm has been requested by the war department so that it may furnish the rivers and harbors committee some definite information on the waterway project before that committee's report is made."

Several bills are before congress which provide for a deep waterway from the great lakes to the Mississippi river and others provide for the diversion of 10,000 cubic feet of water through the drainage canal as part of the waterway idea.

Maj. Putnam explained that the war department permit now being sought by the drainage officials for water diversion only would remain in effect until such time as congress fixed the flow by legislation.

All of the bills in Washington impose certain construction programs on the sanitary district, and it will be the aim of the Chicago firm to determine to what extent such programs can be followed.

Handles Many Similar Projects.

Charles E. Burdick said his company had engaged in almost 150 sanitary and water supply projects.

Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer of the sanitary district, when informed of the arrangement, expressed satisfaction and declared that he would be ready to cooperate.

SENATOR BORAH TAKES THE LEAD.

Deputy Martin, discussing the French debt to the United States in the French chamber Wednesday, gave Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, the chance he was waiting for in the American senate. Martin said that the debt could not be considered as commercial obligation but settlement should be based on moral grounds. "The United States cannot demand from a country dead to death a policy of compensation," Premier Herriot had said that France "has a right to evoke the memory of her wounds."

Thus far France had been told that by the American state department. Martin, Herriot and other French spokesmen had authority from Ambassador Herriot for their settlements. Cancellation had been promised them by many Americans not in authority to speak, diplomats anxious to please in their pleasant surroundings, financiers with private rather than public considerations at heart and by prominent Americans.

If France has been misled it is easy to understand. A good many magnificent gestures have been made in Paris and the French were told that they had fought America's war. If they now say so themselves it is an opinion which was brought to them and inasmuch as it proceeded from the state department as well as from other sources they naturally accepted it as official.

Mr. Borah in the forum of the senate, with the public publicity waiting what he said, had the opportunity to set the state department right and to take the lead which the senate always has taken in the foreign affairs of the American people. It was not so much to the French that there is an international obligation which has no moral effect as it is to the department of state that the international affairs of the country are in the hands of Mr. Borah and his associates.

The state department and the senate are the two factors in American government which most nearly approach a continuity. Administrations change and with them the head of the department, but most of its personnel and its policies carry through. The house of representatives may be changed by one election, but the senate carries through, its entire membership not being exposed to any one election.

The state department lives in an atmosphere of international diplomacy with which the senate does not come in touch. Whatever this influence may be on the department at any time it is all at all times in the senate. The state department yields points which the senate will not concede. Mr. Borah denied with truth that the United States has been an exacting creditor. He said what has been ignored thus far, that in the refunding of the British debt, which is the only major repayment agreed upon, there has been a cancellation. The United States borrowed money from its citizens by selling them Liberty bonds with interest as high as 4 1/2 per cent. This money went into the British loan which has been refunded over a period of sixty-two years for the greater part of which the interest was 3 per cent. The American taxpayer stands the difference and it amounts to the difference between $4,585,650,000 and $3,172,855,000.

Refunding on terms equally generous will be offered the French and a consequent cancellation will be made. Mr. Borah says this is recognized as just, but it is also just to recognize it as a contribution of the American taxpayer to the allies in a country joined in a war which had none of its origin in America's former dealings, its traditions are its natural destiny.

We are impatient when the moral obligations of the United States are presented in distortion of the historical facts. When an American does so it is a most effective display of unpatriotic sentiment. When a foreigner does so it reveals a student ignoring of everything Europe has been doing since medieval days.

MR. EDISON WOULD IMPROVE THE NAVY.

As a naval expert Thomas Edison was a fine inventor of the photograph in the great war; but what Mr. Edison says about the navy and its personnel has, nevertheless, a good deal of truth. He says in effect that navy officers don't work enough. And that, we think, applies to the army, too. There are good men in the navy and there is enough routine activity. But the energy and initiative for constructive work seems largely lacking.

The administrative efficiency and the general competency of the officers of our services are not overwhelmingly evident. Brave and stalwart men they are, but, like the Indian warrior, they are not given to overaction when there is no war. They are inclined to resist innovations. Progress in technical matters is too often forced upon them from the outside.

Our military people are given to criticizing Congress and the public for indifference and stupidity in regard to the defense of this nation. And the military people often are right. The Tribune, surely, has never been slow in recognizing these difficulties and urging adequate measures of defense.

outborn systems and methods because the careers and the success of the officers are involved in them. There is much inertia and mental laziness. In that Mr. Edison is right. If the services cannot help themselves, how can they expect Congress to support them?

FOR THE ATTENTION OF MINISTERS.

Walter Stevens' application for a parole has been granted and Will Colvin, superintendent of the state division of pardons and paroles, has entered the order for his release. Stevens is probably the most notorious of Chicago's living gunmen. He was serving an indeterminate sentence for attempting the murder of a policeman. He had served fifteen months of his sentence. A federal warrant is out for him charging him with shooting a man in Miami, Fla.

He was represented before the division of pardons and paroles by State Representative Lee O'Neil Browne of La Salle county. Browne is a wet leader in the house of representatives. In the Lorimer scandal he was tried for bribery, after the confessions of members of the legislature had implicated him. He was the attorney representing the Chicago, Chicago panders, pardoned by Gov. Small on representations made by him.

Many of the ministers of Chicago object to the emphasis placed by the newspapers on crime. We invite them to investigate the relations of crime and politics as indicated in this Stevens case. They may discover the interrelations of men they support as dry with men they denounce as wet and they may find that the threads reach out into groups they regard as reputable and respectable.

HOME MADE ECLIPSE.

The scientists were all wrong. It was a nice eclipse, but it got here on the wrong day. Most of the morning was as black as show polish, but it was Friday morning. We have had about three eclipses like that this week. Chicago has the habit.

The sun and moon may have pulled off their little stunt on Saturday, as per schedule, but the big stuff in the eclipse line happened Friday. The moon didn't make that one. It was a home made eclipse—Chicago, U. S. A. We did it with our little chimneys.

"And what," asked the little Martian boy, as he looked through papa's telescope at the far away earth, "what is that smudge that swells up so about the middle of the earth?"

"That," said papa, "is Chicago, and under the smudge a strange race lives with blue black lungs and rasping voices from the smoke they eat."

"Why do they eat smoke, papa; are they smoke eaters?" asked little Martius again as he squinted down the long tube of the telescope.

"They like the smoke. The little boys cry for it. It gives the ladies shallow complexions that they think very beautiful. And the men swallow it to improve their golf game. They pour tons of gas and shoe polish into the air every day to give it the right mixture."

"Aren't they funny earthlings," little Martius said, as he tuned off father and ran out to play. A Chicagoan died and found himself in a congenial land. "How fresh the air is," he said. "How happy I am to be in heaven away from this sulphur gas and smoke of my native town."

"Heaven," replied a dark gentleman, approaching with a pair of andirons and a pitchfork. "This is hell. It is an old story told chiefly in New York."

IT MIGHT REDUCE CRIME. Police captains get about $70 a week. Sergeants get about $50 a week. Patrolmen get about $37 a week. That is not much money. The hours are long. The risk is great. The temptations to corruption are dangerous. For such a job higher pay is well justified.

Crime reduction is worth paying for. A better paid police force would reduce crime.

NURMI. With Jole Ray paddling desperately in, half a lap behind him at the Coliseum on the other night, it was evident that Nurmi, the fish fed Finn, has few more worlds to conquer so far as distance running is concerned. It remains only to beat himself, a stunt that gets harder jolly as he breaks his own world's records one after another.

The little Finn with the 7:55-8:45 legs made the mile and three-quarters with a style that experts say is unequalled. No man, they assert, has learned to handle these rather grotesque instruments of locomotion that we call legs with such skill and finish. And no one has been given such a pair of instruments. There are many runners, Finns, Norms, Rittos, Kohlenmaiers, and others of the same Turanian blood. But of all Finns, and certainly of all others, Nurmi has the best propellers.

An elk for a short time can make fifty-five miles an hour. Some antelope can do even better. A coyote will do twenty-five or thirty for half a day. When Nurmi, best of men, does the mile in 4:13.55 minutes that is less than fifteen miles an hour. What's all the excitement about?

The Other Side

WE COMMENT COULDER.

(Nation, New York.)

We are happy unqualifiedly to commend President Coolidge for his stand in refusing to countenance a flag inquiry into the condition of preparedness of our navy and for his refusal to consent to elevation of the game on our battleships. It is true that his action is partly due to his desire to economize and only partly to his wish to prevent resumption of the rivalry between the great battleship powers, of which there are but three left in the world. Whatever the motive, he has taken the right stand, and we are grateful to him for it. If we are not able to commend his selection of Ambassador Kellogg as secretary of state, nor that of the amiable but weak Mr. Charles E. Warren of Michigan as attorney general to succeed Mr. Stone, we must welcome, as we have in another column, the rumored promotion of Ambassador Houghton to London, and we cannot speak too highly of two of the President's recent judicial appointments: the promotion of Judge Learned Hand to the United States Court of Appeals brings into a new and wider field a judge conspicuous for his integrity, his ability, his learning, and his liberalism. It is our hope that he will come day be promoted to the Supreme court itself. The selection of Mr. Thomas D. Thacher to succeed Judge Hand places upon the bench a man of the same type—able, clean, with broad and liberal sympathies and a realization that the world does move. We are the more pleased with the latter appointment because in making it the President disregarded the advice of Senator Wadsworth.

SAFE AT LAST.

I'm very sorry to hear your wife is so ill, Benjamin. Not dangerous, I hope.

Thank you, miss, but she is too weak now to be dangerous.—The Hummer (London).

THE UNFRENZIED
INSOMNIAC.

A. H. writes: I read your articles on how to keep well nearly every day and, although I think they were very useful and make many good suggestions, in your article entitled "The Frenzied Insomniac" I am more inclined to sympathize with him than with you. I have been an insomniac myself and have known others and of their and my experiences with doctors. I am not yet entirely cured, but get much better nights than I used to have, and believe I have arrived at the source of the trouble and how to control it, to a considerable extent.

My diagnosis of your patient's case is that he is suffering from nerve exhaustion, probably brought on by bad habits of some kind, either of eating, drinking, dissipation, or work, or by a combination of two or more of the same. These habits have probably created some physical trouble which interferes with proper digestion or proper elimination and creates an excitable, feverish condition which prevents sleep, or wakes him up after sleeping a short time. I do not believe there is anything directly wrong with his mind, but that he is a man by being a psychopath, but he probably lacks patience at times and has not as much steadfastness of purpose as is necessary to accomplish results.

I find if I eat easily laxative and easily digestible food, avoid stimulants or excitement of any kind, do not overeat, eat a fairly good breakfast and lunch or dinner, and a very light supper, I generally get a fair night's sleep. But even then a decided change in the weather or excitement from expectation of what may happen the next day interferes with my night's sleep, but even then I do not worry, as I feel sure that as soon as the weather has settled and the temporary excitement is over I will get to sleeping again.

I would suggest also that he might have a thorough physical examination to make sure that there is no physical cause for his nervousness and inability to sleep.

This is a nervous, high strung child. She is better frightened. She needs training in calm and quiet. She will find her true self, such as "hast" stories, public stories, and the bad-man-will-kill-you stories.

ADVICE ON TUBERCULOSIS.
F. L. D. writes:
1. Will you please tell me where I can get information for my tuberculosis?
2. I am also interested in preventive methods for a recovered patient.

1. Write or call at the office of your local tuberculosis society. Also at the office of your health department.
2. Write me about the last of February. I will be glad to answer you in an article on this subject now.

RINGWORM CONTAGIOUS.
S. E. K. writes: I have occasion to work in the same office with a young lady who is suffering from ringworm. Many days I must be near her. Is it possible for me to catch the disease by handling these papers?

REPLY.
It is. Ringworm is contagious.

CENTER OF THE UNITED STATES.
Chicago, Jan. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—What is considered the geographic center of the United States proper? I know that the center of population is down here in Indiana, but that is constantly shifting, while the geographic center is practically stationary.

A. D. G. writes:
The United States geological survey has located the center of the United States as being in the state of Kansas, at latitude 39 degrees 55 minutes, longitude 98 degrees 35 minutes. The location is near Lebanon, Kas., in Smith county.

LOST DEED.
Chicago, Jan. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A brother of mine has a deed to a piece of land in the state of New Mexico. The deed to this land was stolen when the bank where it was kept was robbed. The deed shall be proceeded to make a new deed to this land? His deed has been recorded.

M. S. writes:
If the deed number you as grantee has recorded, its substance is in the hands of little importance. If you ever wish to sell, your purchase will be satisfied with your title as shown.

THE TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.
UNRECORDED MORTGAGE.
Laporta, Ind., Jan. 22.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died recently and left among his papers an unrecorded mortgage dated Jan. 16, 1911. It covered 160 acres of land in southern Kansas which was given as security on a loan of $10,000. The land has since passed to my father's estate. The mortgage now is to be placed on record. The principal and interest collected by the regular procedure of foreclosure?

C. H. C. writes:
Depends upon all the facts. If the land has been purchased by a person who has notice of the unrecorded mortgage, such purchase can probably defeat the mortgage.

GOODNESS! our oyster logger hasn't been around for two days and we'll bet they've got him in the hoosegow right now. Anyhow, that last peck he brought us wasn't pre-war stuff. The shells of these bluepoints all had 1914 carved on them, but they look like French river clam shells. The oyster logger said that he got all his oysters from Canada, and that they had been picked from the oyster trees that grow so abundantly around Hudson Bay. We believed him then, but now we are commencing to doubt.

THIS MORNING it happens; the eclipse. Of course we are not one of those ignorant, superstitious people who thinks that the veiling of the sun means that Gabriel is going to blow his horn for the ending of the world. We absolutely do not believe any such silly thing. No, indeed, we do not. Mel-O'D... he lifted me away... away to his dream-world... and for the few minutes I was happy... until the end... he brought me gently back to earth... the town blinded me... but he did it so beautifully one couldn't be unhappy... it is with me yet... and so Good Nite and a heart full of thanks from

THESE who are sitting up nights worrying because the Phantom Lover of the Line that they have been making again and on top of the Drake hotel on Line Nite must be told that we have pondered deeply over the question and have finally arrived at a most remarkable conclusion—viz: perhaps there are two Phantom Lovers. But why, they will ask, did the column conductor permit such a thing? Maybe the column conductor didn't know it. But why did he call the members of the Symphony Orchestra "The Stockades"? I ask you! I ask you!

PERCY B. COFFIN TO GET COUNTY'S CHOICEST PLUM

Small's Plan Seen as a Slap at Thompson.

BY FRANK BUTZOW.

Percy B. Coffin, right hand man of Fred Lundin, is slated to get the fat plum at Gov. Small's disposal. That is the job as public administrator of Cook county, which carries with it fees said to range from $10,000 to $15,000 annually.

May Be Last Straw.

In many quarters it is regarded as a direct slap at Big Bill. Some of Thompson's friends have said for weeks that such a move on the part of the governor would mean the last straw on the stack of tribulations Thompson has borne in attempting to wrest the state administration from the grasp of the political godfather, Fred Lundin.

Not even retention of Lincoln park pavilion will now satisfy Thompson, some of his friends say. In the face of former vigorous statements that the loss of this job would mean the end of Thompson's relations with Lundin, the news created considerable stir.

Gov. Small's decision to take this important post away from Thompson's intimate friend and office partner, former Senator Harding, was named around as definite information in administration circles yesterday. It will have far reaching effects, politicians say, particularly on the south side, where Harding's power has, but it confirms repeated evidences that Small intends to stay with Lundin to the end of the political road.

Kept Plan Quiet.

In some quarters it was suggested that Lundin forced the Coffin appointment as the showdown which Thompson first demanded several months ago. For some time efforts were made to keep the appointment quiet because of fear that Small would find some way out if his plans became publicly known, but from sources close to the administration it was said yesterday that Coffin's name would go to the senate for confirmation next week or the week following.

ARRANGE PARLEY OF RAIL AND MINE UNION LEADERS

Cleveland, O., Jan. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—A meeting in Washington to discuss the employment of miners by the Coal Rivers Collieries company, owned by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, was arranged late today.

The conference will be between John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and chairman of the board of the collieries company.

The meeting was arranged by Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

The mines have been running non-union since the break between Mr. Stone and the United Mine Workers of America last spring following the company's refusal to pay the union scale, declared to be higher than what the company could get for its coal.

Dr. Percy Pus and his associates, Harry Stevens, George Brennan, George Harris, and James Murray, were held to the grand jury in bonds totaling $2,700,000 by Judge John H. Lyle in the South Clark street court yesterday on charges of robbery.

The five are charged with robberies totaling foot of more than $100,000. It is charged that in a month they stole jewelry worth $30,000 from David Swesdale's pawnshop at 613 South State street.

Robbery of the homes of William C. Pfeiffer, 1016 Hollywood avenue, wealthy manufacturer, and Jack Berns, 813 Galt avenue, also are charged to them.

TIED AS JUROR, GOES TO CUBA; HE MAY END IN CELL

New York, Jan. 23.—[Special.]—There are thunder clouds on the horizon of Havana for Henry Sartoris, jeweler, and juror No. 11 in the manslaughter trial of David Morgenstein. Mr. Sartoris, tired of being a juror, left for Cuba. Judge McIntyre unleashed the lightning today.

"I intend to send him to jail for a long time," he said. "This is criminal contempt of court. Mr. Brothers—Assistant District Attorney George W. Brothers—will you lay this matter before the grand jury and have him indicted?"

Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly, sister of the jeweler, informed Judge McIntyre that her brother had gone to Havana, as is his custom each year at this time. Mr. Sartoris understood, she explained, that the trial might drag along for several weeks, so he decided to go south.

proposal is not acceptable. Have you any alternative?"

Minority Remains Firm.

"The bankers believe that scheme to be the best for the city, the car riders, and the investors," declared Mr. Strawn, without a moment's hesitation. "A minority of the bankers' committee remains firm in its refusal to consider anything else."

"However, I am empowered to notify you that the majority of the bankers' committee is willing to accept your proposition, outlined on Jan. 20, in which it is provided that after 51 per cent of the certificates have been amortized, the neutral group in the control group is abolished, and the city's representation is increased to four."

As a result, it was agreed that Mr. Strawn and William H. Sexton, special attorney for the committee, would undertake to redraft the proposed ordinance at once, giving effect to all of the minor changes suggested by the aldermen and accepted by the bankers' committee. At the same time Mr. Strawn promised to appear at Monday's meeting of the committee and answer the questions of any aldermen not members of the committee who may be present.

PUNISH FIREMAN FOR SINGING AS SWUNG HIS AX

Fireman Thomas L. Noonan, the singing fireman whose vocal attempts during a recent fire caused him to be suspended by Battalion Chief Bert E. Fisher, was ordered reprimanded for insubordination by the civil service commission yesterday.

It was during a blaze at 7544 Cornell avenue, on Jan. 15, Noonan was timing the blows of his fire ax to the cadences of "The Pal That I Love Stole the Gal That I Love."

"People might have thought that the firemen were drunk," Fisher explained. "As I turned away I heard Noonan remark to a comrade that 'that must be another of those rules.' I thought that a slur against myself and the heads of the fire department, and I suspended him."

ALL READY FOR HINES-HOWARD WEDDING TODAY

Miss Loretta Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hines, 1456 Ridge avenue, Evanston, will be married to Howell Howard, son of Col. and Mrs. H. Maxwell Howard of Dayton, O., at noon today at the Holy Name cathedral. Cardinal Mundelein will perform the ceremony and the Rt. Rev. Francis C. Kelley, bishop of Oklahoma, will sing the nuptial mass.

Tito Schipa of the Chicago Civic Opera company will sing. Correcting a former erroneous report that the Chicago Symphony orchestra would play, it was announced yesterday that not the whole orchestra but musicians from its membership will play.

Members of Bridal Party.

Miss Eunice Howard of Dayton, sister of the bridegroom, will be Miss Hines' maid of honor; Mrs. Champ Cary of Chicago will serve her as matron of honor. The other attendants are: Miss Florence Notz, Miss Anne Schuttler, Miss Sarane Otis, Miss Dorothy Curtis, Miss Scythia Mark, Miss Edwena Love, Miss Ruth Patterson of Cleveland, Miss Eleanor Davies of Washington, D. C., and Miss Elizabeth Teller of Pittsburgh.

Ralph J. Hines, a brother of the bride, will be Mr. Howard's best man. His ushers include: Charles M. Hines, another brother of Miss Hines; Delano W. Ladd, Plainfield, N. J.; Charles Clapp, Greenwich, Conn.; Noel Armstrong, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Peter J. Mo-Hugh, Chicago; Edwin T. Lamb Jr., Norfolk, Va.; Nathan G. Osborne, Chicago; and Edgar M. Thacker Jr., James P. Thacker, Samuel Markham, Raymond Omer, John K. McIntire, Frank T. Huffman Jr., and Willard M. Kirkpatrick, all of Dayton.

The Wedding Gown.

Miss Hines' wedding gown is of white velvet embroidered in pearls and silver, designed by Drecoil, with a long court train lined with cloth of silver. Her veil is of rare old lace. In place of a bridal bouquet she will carry a white prayer book, the gift of Bishop Kelley, and crystal rosary beads, the gift of Pope Pius XI. Her only ornament will be a diamond pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, to which more than 2,000 invitations have been issued, there will be a wedding breakfast for the bridal party and relatives at the Hines home in Evanston.

WARNING SKATERS! HERE ARE RULES FOR SILVER SKATES MEET

1. Contestants in Juvenile and Junior Derbies must report for numbers before 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. None will be given out after this hour, and the first heat of the Juvenile will start at 10:30 o'clock.

2. Contestants in other races must secure their numbers before noon. None will be given out afterward.

3. Contestants must be sure of their numbers before applying to number clerks. Look up your numbers either in tomorrow's Tribune or in the program.

4. Be sure to have number clerk mark number of your heat on your number and be sure to answer when your heat number and racing number are called.

5. Only two calls will be given for heats, semifinals, and finals.

6. The first heat of the Intermediate Derby will start promptly at 1 o'clock, and other trials will follow as fast as clerks of course can arrange them.

7. Be prompt and, above all, be courteous to police and officials. They are working for your interests, and make sure to bear in mind implicitly the above instructions, which will be followed to the letter.

8. Skaters who sent in entries after Jan. 18, the closing date, need not appear, as their entries have been rejected. Plenty of warning was given, and the judges' stand will be closed and the stands for honorary officials will be covered with bunting and American flags.

9. A decision engaged by THE TRIBUNE will show American flags for the trials, while the pole of the trials will be marked with American flags. The trials will be held at the races at 1 o'clock, while John Marshall's band will be on hand to furnish the music. In fact, everything has been done to insure a successful day and all that remains to do is such as the weather, temperature, which is expected to be slightly below the freezing point.

Canadian Stars Arrive.

Owing to serious illness of Henry Uptal, well known west side sportsman, who has presented the prizes at all former Tribune Derbies. Al. Albert J. Horan of the Twenty-ninth ward has kindly consented to make the awards. Al. Horan is a first baseman in amateur sports, skating especially, and he seldom has missed an opportunity to see the races held each Sunday. He is a friend of the side who will compete tomorrow and is well qualified for the position.

The Canadian delegation of girl skaters arrived in Chicago yesterday and are bent on taking back some of the prizes. Other out of town experts will be in the city today, according to telegrams, while the local army of steel blade experts are ready to match their skill with the best from other parts. Most of them will bend every effort to prevent any of the first prizes going to skaters outside of Chicago, while the rivalry for team honors is expected to result in spirited competition. Skaters are requested to read the instructions appearing in another part of the sports section.

200 PREPS RACE FOR SKATE TITLES TODAY

More than 200 high school skaters will compete today in the third annual championship tournament of the Chicago high schools which will be held on the north lagoon at Lincoln park starting at 9 o'clock. The field has been divided into two parts, senior and junior, and the tournament will be in charge of E. G. Delaporte, athletic supervisor of the public schools.

Chicago club skaters are entering the first annual ice skating Derby of the Garden Park Skating club and South Town Business Men's association, which will be held at Ogden park next Saturday, in large numbers. The tournament is sanctioned by the Western Skating association and no entry fee is being charged.

Other Many Prizes.

The program includes races in all classes and the entries close Thursday night. Several trophies have been provided by business men of the southwest side and the regular program of club events will be held with a special "miss and out" race as the feature.

Playground Sled Meet.

Officials of the board of education playgrounds have been endeavoring for some time to stage an event of interest for the smaller boys and girls of the playgrounds who do not skate. Today will mark the first annual sled race of the board playgrounds and the meet will be staged in several districts starting at 10 a. m.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

SILVER SKATES DERBIES.

THE TRIBUNE sporting department is proud of its Silver Skates Derby events, of which the ninth will be held tomorrow on Garfield Park lagoon. Nowhere else in the world, so far as known, does any skating race attract such a large and representative entry list.

Starting nine years ago with one race, the program has grown to six separate races for various classes, including four for boys and two for girls.

With an increase in entries to 2555, which is 560 more than a year ago, the most notable gains are in races for girls and the juvenile Derby for boys under 14 years. This is especially gratifying. For the young boys, it means development of future champions. For the girls, it means progress in a sport in which our young ladies have not been as proficient as the boys, compared with other cities.

These TRIBUNE races unquestionably have done much for Chicago skating. That is admitted by national skating authorities. They are not local scrambles for attractive prizes, but real races between performers of caliber. TRIBUNE Derby winners almost without exception have won national and international titles. This is the more noteworthy because ice tenure is more or less uncertain during Chicago's erratic winters.

Those who wish to see hundreds of youngsters as contestants in a wholesome outdoor sport should be at Garfield park tomorrow.

HUSKERS PICK BEARG FOR HEAD GRID COACH

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 23.—[By Associated Press.]—Ernest E. Bearg, assistant football coach at the University of Illinois, was this morning unanimously elected head football coach at the University of Nebraska, the Nebraska athletic board announced. The selection has been unanimously approved by the athletic board of control to be effective March 1.

The new Husker coach is a product of Severance, Kas., high school, and starred at Washburn college, Kansas, where he later served as football coach and director of athletics in 1918. He was made assistant to Coach Robert Zupke at Illinois in 1919.

MICHIGAN COUNTS ON YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich., Jan. 23.—[Fielding H. "Hurry Up" Yost is picked by most of the campus wirecasters as the man who will direct the University of Michigan football campaign next fall, succeeding George Little, who goes to Wisconsin as director of athletics. Yost's name and that of Tad Welman, line coach, are the only ones heard in discussions in athletic circles here.

Yost, who is director of athletics, will not comment on his plans. "Whatever is best for Michigan—that will be done," is all he will say.

Although he announced a year ago that he would turn over active control of football to Coach Little, Yost never has taken his hands off the steering wheel. Yost said today that selection of a football coach is not a matter requiring immediate attention.

LOMBARD OFFICIALS DENY OFFER TO N. U. FROSH CAGE STAR

ALESBURG, Ill., Jan. 23.—[Special.]—Lombard college officials today indignantly denied that they had offered special inducements to Clifford Walsh, freshman basketball star at Northwestern university, in an effort to induce him to quit Northwestern for Lombard.

The Daily Northwestern of Evanston, a student publication, charged that Lombard flagrantly lifted Walsh, whose home is at Council Bluffs, Ia.

"Walsh came to Lombard, to make arrangements for matriculation and was told that he could not register until next fall," Prof. Wynn, registrar said. "He visited some Council Bluffs boys here and attended class with them, but he is not a student. He will not be eligible for athletics until next fall in any case."

Lombard alumni scouted the idea that a small school like the Olive could take players from a Big Ten university and said they welcomed an investigation.

BIG TEN LEADERS CLASH IN CAGE BATTLE TONIGHT

MINNESOTA at Wisconsin.
Chicago at Indiana.
Iowa at Illinois.
Northwestern at Ohio State.

From tonight's Big Ten cage scramble, in which eight quintets will compete, there will emerge but one undefeated team, for tonight Iowa and Illinois, the only five which have not been trounced, will clash at Champaign, while six other outfits which have not weathered the titanic storms so successfully vie for better standing in the pennant chase.

The Illinois have met and defeated Chicago, Northwestern, and Indiana, while the Hawkeyes have counted victories over Minnesota and Purdue. They're playing a good passing game downstate and Coach Ruby's athletes have shown a lot of prowess on defense.

Iowa Enjoys Rest.

Iowa has been idle in recent weeks, and during that time Sam Barry probably has put enough polish on his quintet to make it a formidable threat on the Illinois clean slate.

Northwestern's victory over Minnesota Monday night was a big surprise and renders them a dangerous foe for the Buckeyes, who made a fine start in the conference flag chase. Chicago will try again to break into the win column tonight when it meets Indiana at Bloomington, relying on more accurate shooting and closer defense of the opposing quint for the power which was lacking against Illinois and Minnesota.

Badgers Play Gophers.

The Minnesota-Wisconsin game will be the second between these teams, and the Badgers will be after evening the count, having suffered defeat on the Gopher floor, while the northmen will seek to vindicate their upset by Northwestern.

MAROONS OPEN
INDOOR TRACK
CARD TONIGHT

Chicago's track team, touted as the best that the Midwest has had since the war, will get its first test tonight when it meets Northwestern at Bartlett gym in the first Big Ten dual meet of the indoor season.

Though but two letter men of last year's team are on the squad this season, Harry Frieda, the only other who didn't graduate being engaged with basketball, enough additions have been made from last year's freshman class to make the Maroon turnout a star one.

In conjunction with the dual meet tonight, the first of a series of three intercollegiate meets, sponsored by the University of Chicago under the student management of Graham Kernwein, will be staged, the point totals for the three meets being added to establish the Chicago and suburban high schools championship. Nearly 600 prep athletes will compete.

SPAULDING SIGNS TO LEAD GOPHERS TWO YEARS MORE

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 23.—William H. (Bill) Spaulding, head football coach at the University of Minnesota, was retained in that post and given a one year contract at a meeting of the university board of regents here today.

The action renewing Coach Spaulding's contract was not accompanied by any opposition, and it was said by members of the board that the salary question would be "settled satisfactorily in the near future."

Representative Spaulding was opposed at the regents' meeting by representatives of the university alumni "M" club, which declared he "is not big enough for the job." Members of the 1925 squad, including Captain-elect Herman Acher, supported Spaulding.

JIMMIE CROWLEY IS RESTING IN HOSPITAL HERE

James Crowley, the All-American half back of the Notre Dame football team, arrived in Chicago yesterday and is now in the Mercy hospital resting from the strain of a strenuous football season. Crowley, who is a member of the four horsemen, was stricken with a heart attack on his way from Los Angeles to San Francisco following the football clash between Notre Dame and Leland Stanford in Pasadena on New Year's day.

The Notre Dame star, who will probably take up coaching next fall, is able to talk over the telephone and yesterday asserted he will be identified with the game again next fall. He has been ordered to remain in the hospital for at least a week to rest and undergo treatment for a strained heart and general nervous breakdown.

"Just say for me I'll be back in the game next season," Jimmy said yesterday. "It was a strenuous year and I did not feel any serious results of the season until the squad left Los Angeles for San Francisco. I guess I had a narrow escape, but after a short rest I know I will be myself again."

Mrs. Agnes Crowley, the player's mother, and immediate family came down from Green Bay, Wis., yesterday to see him. Mrs. Crowley said she will take her son home after he leaves the hospital.

CREIGHTON BEATS N. DAME, 34 TO 21

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 23.—Creighton easily defeated the Notre Dame basketball quintet here tonight by a score of 34 to 21. Notre Dame's continual fouling and Mahoney's accuracy piled up a lead in the first half that was never threatened. Notre Dame was unable to break through Creighton's defense until near the end of the contest, when the local team in large measure was replaced by second string men.

I. A. C. WILL SEND TEAM OF 15 TO A. A. U. TITLE MEET

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 23.—Fifteen men will comprise the Illinois Athletic club entry at the National A. A. U. indoor track and field championship meet here Feb. 25, according to word received today from Charles A. Dean, chairman of the athletic committee. The Illinois club won the 1924 championship.

Joie Ray and Harold Osborne, Olympic high jump champion, will be among the Illinois club contestants.

U. of Chicago Mat Team Wrestles Illini Tonight

Matmen of the University of Chicago will meet the Illinois grapplers at Champaign in a Big Ten dual meet tonight. Coach Spyros Vorres is relying upon Herbert Takaki, 117 pounds, Capt. Ball, 147 pounds, Louis Shimbarg, 160 pounds, and Graham, 137 pounds, for points.

Reo's percentage of increase, therefore, was more than four times as great as the average for all cars—including the lowest-priced cars.

Incidentally, among the twenty leading makes, there was no other car whose percentage of increase—if any—was even approximately as great as Reo's.

Gallic Visitors Give to Chicago Society an Example of Great Pep

BY PANDORA.

As Americans think we're peppy, we're not a patch on our Gallic neighbors across the way. Last Wednesday morning Count Pierre de Lamoignon, the former Mrs. Ray Atherton of Chicago, at 7 o'clock on a gray, foggy morning, and by half past 7 the good looking couple went on their way to St. Louis by automobile. Their plan was to make the 400 miles in one day.

As we have heard nothing of the country, and as they are here in the name of war from Detroit, some 200 miles between half past 7 in the morning and half past 7 in the evening, it is safe to conclude they were not helped by an unfinished Illinois highway and that they reached their destination by Wednesday evening.

During their stay here they were guests at Mrs. Waller Borden's house on the Lake Shore drive, which she put at their disposal while she went to New York for a ten day rest with Mrs. Honore Palmer. Mrs. Borden is expected to return from the east on Monday.

As for excitement social and social within our walls, the Hines-Howe wedding, which takes place at noon today at the cathedral at State and Superior streets, is stirring more than usual interest among Chicago's four hundred, most of whom are anxious to see the ceremony performed with the splendid pomp possible only in the Catholic church. Those who have no invitations are eagerly seeking them from their more favored acquaintances, offering, I am told, different kinds of bribes for cards admitting them to the church.

Day's News in Society

A smart gathering paid the tribute of its interest yesterday afternoon at the opening private view of the Joan portrait exhibition at the Chicago Public School Art society. And the group of portraits for the occasion was as smart in its subjects and their artists. Especially admired was the large portrait of Mrs. Potter Palmer, taken from the gallery of the Potter Palmer residence, which she is in her fashionable mourning costume, was present at the tea, one of the first affairs she has attended since the death of her father, H. H. Palmer. Other pictures, members of Chicago's beau monde which attracted attention were those of Mrs. Walter S. Brewster by Glyn Philpot, lent by Mr. Brewster; Miss Ellen Borden, also by Philpot, and lent by Mrs. Waller Borden; "Mother," by August Franzen, lent by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Rosenwald; Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, by Martin Walker, and Dr. John Timothy Ryan, by J. E. Wickwire, lent by himself.

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, in a flaming costume of scarlet with a black velvet belt, was seated at the tea table, as was Mrs. H. H. Winterbotham, who was in a dark green ensemble with a black velvet belt and a black and white costume was assisting in waiting the guests. Noticed in the crowd, also, were Mrs. Edward J. Elmer, Mrs. Robert H. Gregory, Mrs. Howard Spaulding, Mrs. John W. Lee, Mrs. James L. Houghteling Jr., Mr. C. G. Gillis, Mrs. Thomas W. Lee, Mrs. C. W. McCormick, Mrs. Louis Durand, Mrs. John Alden Carter, Mrs. Mary Waller, Miss Mabel Lane, George F. Porter, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Russell Tyson, Miss Sarah Cummings, and her father, Walter S. Brewster, Miss Sarah Hinde, Miss Bluff Richardson, and George A. McKelvey.

The Junior League children's theater will give its third performance of "The Sleeping Beauty" at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Playhouse. Miss Margaret Hamilton is to replace Mrs. T. Philip Swift as one of the Good Fairies in the cast, as Mrs. Swift is departing for the south.

The popular Mediterranean cruise is claiming numbers of Chicagoans to whom late winter traveling has become a habit. Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Butler of 567 Hawthorne place are sailing from New York today for a several month's trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Keep of 1200 Lake Shore drive, John W. Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rehm and their daughter, Louise, are to go on the Franconia for the world encircling tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Armin Brand of the Lake Shore Drive hotel have departed for the east to sail on a tour around the world. They will return in June. Announcement was made in Milwaukee last evening of the engagement of Miss Margaret Pich, daughter of Mrs. Lawrence Pich of Milwaukee, to Thomas Stevens Van Ayles, also of Milwaukee, and well known in Chicago. The announcement was made by the prenuptial parties of Miss Pich's cousin, Miss Isabel Earing, a former Chicago girl.

Lucille had been taken to the stores to see the Christmas toys and, incidentally, to get a new dress.

An elderly saleswoman, trying to coax her to stand still while being fitted, said, "Well, little girl, have you seen Santa Claus?"

"I've seen five of him," said Lu, fretfully.

Philip is the adoring follower of his brother, David, who from the height of his four years, looks down rather patronizingly on all such small fry.

However, David does have one weakness, a fear of the dark.

One night recently his mother heard this cry from the nursery, "Mother, I'm afraid in here. It's so dark."

Followed by a soft, little rush, and the comforting tones, "Don't cry, Davy. I here!"

MEN'S FASHIONS

ly but surely choked to death has merely given to himself this look by wearing the wrong kind of collar for his style of neck. It isn't too tight for him. It is too high.

He is a thick necked man, and being such, should avoid the wearing of the high small winged collar, such as in the drawing. For the high white collar calls attention to the thick neck, and the small wings are out of proportion.

For this type the collar to the right is recommended, if a wing collar is desired. The lower cut takes the choke effect away from the neck. The wings are bigger.

Fashionists.

A man wearing a dark blue double breasted suit with it in attractive combination a striped tie of orange, light gray and dark blue, and a black and white striped shirt with self collar.

A man wearing a similar suit with it a widely open tie of light and dark blue and a solid blue shirt. The handkerchief in the breast pocket was dark red figured silk, thus giving an added dash of color to the blue combination.
